Astrobiology: Life on Other Worlds

Although we have yet to find life beyond Earth, we continue to search for it every single day. But, what exactly are we searching for? In a universe so big, where should we look first? Come find out in this presentation by Jaclyn Avidon, former board member of the Amateur Astronomers Association of New York and NASA Fellow.

The event is free and open to all. Please visit Eventbrite to RSVP at tdastrobiology.eventbrite.com.

Please feel free to bring your own binoculars and telescopes and set them up next to the experts.
